Heath End News is a small convenience store situated in a residential area on the outskirts of Farnham. It incorporated a Post Office up until 2008. It is owned and managed by Mrs VARA and her brother Mr Vinod DHOKIA. Mrs VARA is the Premises Licence holder and Designated Premises Supervisor. They have owned the premises since 2006.

On 12th October 2006 the Police Licensing Officer visited the premises and spoke with Mrs Vara and Mr Dhokia when they took over the running of the business. They were given advice regarding the need to display the summary of the premises licence and have the detailed part of the licence on site available to be produced. They were also given advice regarding the need for an age policy, a written authority to sell and written staff training records to prove due dilligence.

On 21st April 2010 the Police Licensing Officer together with an officer from Trading Standards visited the premises. Mrs Vara was not on site but they spoke with Mr Dhokia.

There was no summary of the premises licence displayed and no detailed licence available to be produced. There was no written authority to sell in place and there were no staff training records available. Mr Dhokia stated that he had not received any training but he was a joint owner of the premises.

On 28th April 2010 the Police Licensing Officer again attended the premises and spoke with Mrs Vara regarding the visit on 21st April.

She stated that the premises licence had been lost when the Post Office closed and they made alterations. She was again given advice regarding the summary and detailed premises licence. She was also given further advice regarding the need for a written authority to sell, staff training records, an age policy and the keeping of a refusals book. She was also advised regarding test purchase operations and the procedure for reviewing premises licenses.

On 18th June 2010 police on mobile patrol stopped a 16 year old youth in Alma Lane, Farnham. The youth was carrying seven cans of lager which he stated he had purchased from Heath End News.

The officer went to the premises and spoke to Mr DHOKIA who was working at the premises on his own. He admitted selling the alcohol to the youth without asking for any identification.

He was given a chance to accept a Police Notice for Disorder, which he did.

On Friday 27th August 2010 Police and Trading Standards carried out a test purchase operation at the premises and again Mr DHOKIA, who was working at the premises on his own, sold a bottle of white wine to two 16 year old female volunteers without asking for any identification.

This is the second under age sale in three consecutive months.

Mrs VARA, the Premises Licence Holder was interviewed at Farnham Police Station on 24th September 2010. She was unable to provide any written training records to prove that staff had been trained in the sale of alcohol.

Trading Standards are making follow up enquiries and considering prosecution for the second sale of alcohol and the offence of persistently selling alcohol. Heath End News only displays and sells a small quantity of alcohol each week.

It is believed that the premises is failing to promote the licensing objective of protecting children from harm and the concern is that alcohol may be regularly being sold to underage.

Despite numerous visits and advice the premises does not appear to have sufficient measures in place to prevent sales to underage.

We recommend that the Premises Licence be revoked.

Dear Mr Hughes,

Re: Heath End News, Farnham

I write in relation to the above premises and the licence review that has been initiated by Surrey Police.

This Department, along with Surrey Police, has recently conducted a test-purchasing exercise on this premise on the 27th August 2010, which resulted in a sale of alcohol to two female volunteers both aged 16 years.

Heath End News first came to our attention when I was asked to visit the premises with Waverley Borough's Police Licensing Officer Mr Pete Hathaway. Surrey Trading Standards visited Heath End News with Surrey Police on the 21st April, with the view to giving them advice around preventing under age sales to youngsters. It appeared during our visit that there was not much of a system in place regarding under age sales of any age-restricted products. Mr Dhokia who was working at the time was given considerable advice and also a Trading Standards under age sales advice pack to forward onto the DPS for further staff training.

I wish to inform the committee hearing this review that the test purchase was attempted after receiving intelligence from Surrey Police alleging the premises had been selling alcohol to under 18's. The Intelligence received was the payment of an £80 penalty notice for disorder (PND) by a Mr Dhokia who admitted selling alcohol to a 16-year-old youth without checking for proof of age on the 18th June 2010. This Service acted upon this information and arranged with Surrey Police to test purchase Heath End News on Friday 27th August 2010.

The circumstances of the test purchase were as follows. At approximately 17.53 hours on 27th August 2010, Trading Standards Officer Robert Towers sent two young female volunteers, aged 16 years of age into Heath End News, once inside they were then authorised to attempt to buy alcohol. At this point, a member of the Licensing Team from Waverley Borough Council was already positioned inside the premises to witness any potential sale. Heath End News was not busy and there was only Mr Dhokia behind the sales counter and he sold a bottle of 75cl bottle of Silver Bay Point British White Wine. Mr Dhokia again did not ask for proof of age from either of the volunteers.

This operation successfully identified that the intelligence was correct and that Heath End News were not complying with Section 146 of the Licensing Act 2003. After the test purchase failure Mr Dhokia advised Mr Towers that he had not received any further training on his roles and responsibilities under the Licensing Act from the Designated Premises Supervisor. Mr Dhokia simply stated that he paid his £80 PND previously and was told verbally not to do it again by the Designated Premises Supervisor. It appeared to Mr Towers after this conversation and after this recent test purchase failure that there was no evidence of a system being in place to prevent illegal alcohol sales, and the DPS is ultimately responsible for that.

Trading Standards have now got an ongoing criminal investigation looking into this second alleged under age sale of alcohol to a minor. Specifically this investigation will be focused on the Premises Licence Holder and we will be looking to prosecute under section 147A Licensing Act 2003 (persistently selling alcohol to children)

It is worth bringing to the attention of the committee that whilst dealing with the test purchase failure in August, a number of counterfeit bottles of Vodka & Brandy were discovered and these have recently been analysed and the final decision on further criminal charges has yet to be decided.

Heath End news is not promoting the objective of protecting children from harm and despite considerable advice and help from this service; they will continue to sell alcohol to underage children. With the discovery of counterfeit alcohol as well, this gives further evidence that the licenced premises is not being run or managed properly.

Should the application for a licence review by Surrey Police be successful, Surrey County Council Trading Standards Service would like the committee to consider revoking the premises licence in full.

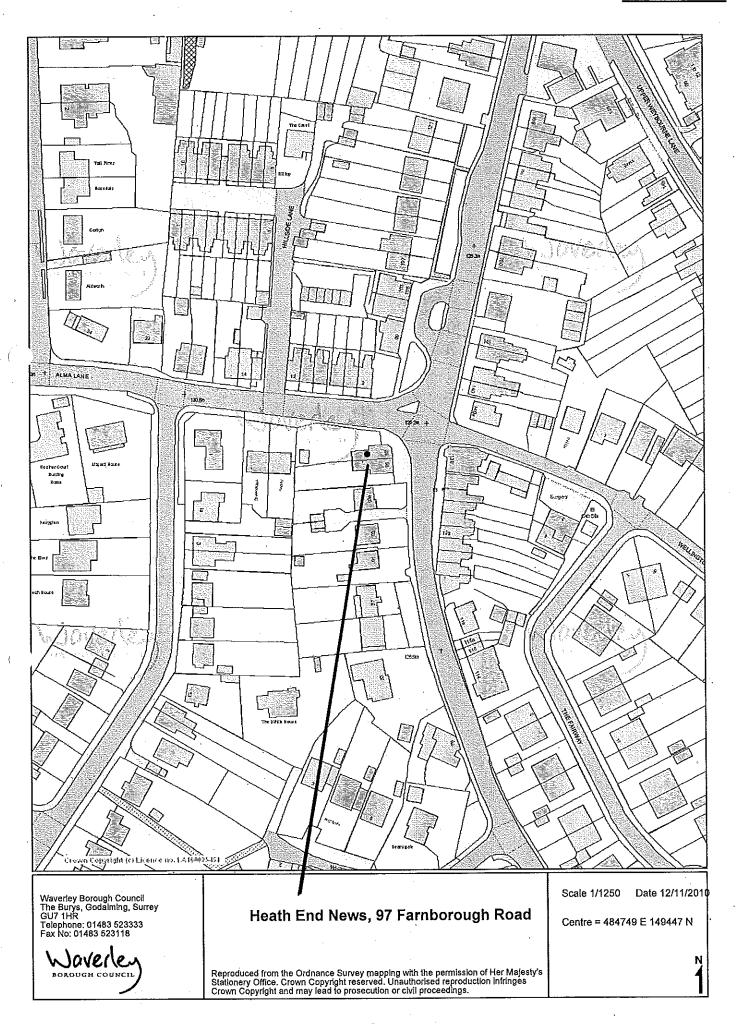

I hope this information assists the licence review process. If I can be of any further assistance then please do not hesitate to contact me.

Yours sincerely,

Steve Playle

11. Reviews

THE REVIEW PROCESS

- 11.1 The proceedings set out in the 2003 Act for reviewing premises licences represent a key protection for the community where problems associated with the licensing objectives are occurring after the grant or variation of a premises licence.
- 11.2 At any stage, following the grant of a premises licence, a responsible authority, or an interested party, may ask the licensing authority to review the licence because of a matter arising at the premises in connection with any of the four licensing objectives.
- 11.3 The Regulations allow applications for reviews to be made electronically, as long as the licensing authority agrees and the applicant submits a subsequent written application. The licensing authority may also agree in advance that the application need not be given in writing. However, these applications are outside the formal electronic application process and may not be submitted via businesslink or the licensing authority's electronic facility.
- 11.4 In addition, a review of the licence will normally follow any action by the police to close down the premises for up to 24 hours on grounds of disorder or noise nuisance as a result of a notice of magistrates' court's determination sent to the licensing authority.
- 11.5 Licensing officers may not initiate their own reviews of premises licences, but elected members of the licensing authority may request reviews if they are concerned about licensed activities at a premises or such matters are brought to their attention (see paragraph 8.15 above). Officers of the local authority who are specified as responsible authorities under the 2003 Act, such as

- environmental health officers, may also request reviews on any matter which relates to the promotion of one or more of the licensing objectives.
- 11.6 Representations made by a department of the local authority which is a responsible authority should be treated by the licensing authority in precisely the same way that they would treat representations made by any other body or individual.
- In every case, the representation must relate to particular premises for which a premises licence is in existence and must be relevant to the promotion of the licensing objectives. After a licence or certificate has been granted or varied, a complaint relating to a general (crime and disorder) situation in a town centre should generally not be regarded as a relevant representation unless it can be positively tied or linked by a causal connection to particular premises, which would allow for a proper review of the licence or certificate. For instance, a geographic cluster of complaints, including along transport routes related to an individual public house and its closing time could give grounds for a review of an existing licence as well as direct incidents of crime and disorder around a particular public house.
- 11.8 Representations must be in writing and may be amplified at the subsequent hearing or may stand in their own right. Additional representations which do not amount to an amplification of the original representation may not be made at the hearing.
- 11.9 It is important to recognise that the promotion of the licensing objectives relies heavily on a partnership between licence holders, authorised persons, interested parties and responsible authorities in pursuit of common aims. It is therefore equally important that reviews are not used to drive a wedge between these groups in a way that would undermine the benefits of co-operation. It is good practice for authorised persons and responsible authorities to give licence holders early warning of their concerns about problems identified at the premises concerned and of the need for improvement. A failure to respond to such warnings is expected to lead to a decision to request a review.

- 11.10 Where the request originates with an interested party e.g. a local resident, residents' association, local business or trade association the licensing authority must first consider whether the complaint made is relevant, vexatious, frivolous or repetitious.
- 11.11 Further information for interested parties about the review process is available in "Guidance for interested parties: applying for a review" which can be found on the DCMS website.

REPETITIOUS REPRESENTATIONS

- 11.12 Relevance, vexation and frivolousness were dealt with in paragraphs 9.8 9.13 above. A repetitious representation is one that is identical or substantially similar to:
 - a ground for review specified in an earlier application for review made in relation to the same premises licence which has already been determined; or
 - representations considered by the licensing authority when the premises licence was first granted; or
 - representations which would have been made when the application for the premises licence was first made and which were excluded then by reason of the prior issue of a provisional statement;

- and, in addition to the above grounds, a reasonable interval has not elapsed since that earlier review or the grant of the licence.
- 11.13 Licensing authorities are expected to be aware of the need to prevent attempts to review licences merely as a second bite of the cherry following the failure of representations to persuade the licensing authority on earlier occasions. It is for licensing authorities themselves to judge what should be regarded as a reasonable interval in these circumstances. However, the Secretary of State recommends that more than one review originating from an interested party should not be permitted within a period of twelve months on similar grounds save in compelling circumstances or where it arises following a closure order.
- 11.14 The exclusion of a complaint on the grounds that it is repetitious does not apply to responsible authorities which may make more than one request for a review of a premises within a 12 month period.
- 11.15 When a licensing authority receives a request for a review from a responsible authority or an interested party or in accordance with the closure procedures described in Part 8 of the 2003 Act, it must arrange a hearing. The arrangements for the hearing must follow the provisions set out by the Secretary of State in regulations. The details may be viewed on the DCMS website. The Secretary of State considers it particularly important that the premises licence holder is fully aware of the representations made in respect of the premises, any evidence supporting the representations and that they or their legal representatives have therefore been able to prepare a response.

POWERS OF A LICENSING AUTHORITY ON THE DETERMINATION OF A REVIEW

- 11.16 The 2003 Act provides a range of powers for the licensing authority on determining a review that it may exercise where it considers them necessary for the promotion of the licensing objectives.
- 11.17 The licensing authority may decide that no action is necessary if it finds that the review does not require it to take any steps necessary to promote the licensing objectives. In addition, there is nothing to prevent a licensing authority issuing an informal warning to the licence holder and/or to recommend improvement within a particular period of time. It is expected that licensing authorities will regard such warnings as an important mechanism for ensuring that the licensing objectives are effectively promoted and that warnings should be issued in writing to the holder of the licence. However, where responsible authorities like the police or environmental health officers have already issued warnings requiring improvement either orally or in writing - that have failed as part of their own stepped approach to concerns, licensing authorities should not merely repeat that approach.
- 11.18 Where the licensing authority considers that action under its statutory powers are necessary, it may take any of the following steps:
 - to modify the conditions of the premises licence (which includes adding new conditions or any alteration or omission of an existing condition), for example, by reducing the hours of opening or by requiring door supervisors at particular times;

- to exclude a licensable activity from the scope of the licence, for example, to exclude the performance of live music or playing of recorded music (where it is not within the incidental live and recorded music exemption);
- to remove the designated premises supervisor, for example, because they consider that the problems are the result of poor management;
- to suspend the licence for a period not exceeding three months;
- to revoke the licence.
- 11.19 In deciding which of these powers to invoke, it is expected that licensing authorities should so far as possible seek to establish the cause or causes of the concerns which the representations identify. The remedial action taken should generally be directed at these causes and should always be no more than a necessary and proportionate response.
- 11.20 For example, licensing authorities should be alive to the possibility that the removal and replacement of the designated premises supervisor may be sufficient to remedy a problem where the cause of the identified problem directly relates to poor management decisions made by that individual.
- 11.21 Equally, it may emerge that poor management is a direct reflection of poor company practice or policy and the mere removal of the designated premises supervisor may be an inadequate response to the problems presented. Indeed, where subsequent review hearings are generated by representations, it should be rare merely to remove a succession of designated premises supervisors as this would be a clear indication of deeper problems which impact upon the licensing objectives.

11.22 Licensing authorities should also note that modifications of conditions and exclusions of licensable activities may be imposed either permanently or for a temporary period of up to three months. Temporary changes or suspension of the licence for up to three months could impact on the business holding the licence financially and would only be expected to be pursued as a necessary means of promoting the licensing objectives. So, for instance, a licence could be suspended for a weekend as a means of deterring the holder from allowing the problems that gave rise to the review to happen again. However, it will always be important that any detrimental financial impact that may result from a licensing authority's decision is necessary and proportionate to the promotion of the licensing objectives.

REVIEWS ARISING IN CONNECTION WITH CRIME

11.23 A number of reviews may arise in connection with crime that is not directly connected with licensable activities. For example, reviews may arise because of drugs problems at the premises or money laundering by criminal gangs or the sale of contraband or stolen goods there or the sale of firearms. Licensing authorities do not have the power to judge the criminality or otherwise of any issue. This is a matter for the courts of law. The role of the licensing authority when determining such a review is not therefore to establish the guilt or innocence of any individual but to ensure that the crime prevention objective is promoted. Reviews are part of the regulatory process introduced by the 2003 Act and they are not part of criminal law and procedure. Some reviews will arise after the conviction in the criminal courts of certain individuals but not all. In any case, it is for the licensing authority

- to determine whether the problems associated with the alleged crimes are taking place on the premises and affecting the promotion of the licensing objectives. Where a review follows a conviction, it would also not be for the licensing authority to attempt to go behind any finding of the courts, which should be treated as a matter of undisputed evidence before them.
- 11.24 Where the licensing authority is conducting a review on the ground that the premises have been used for criminal purposes, its role is solely to determine what steps should be taken in connection with the premises licence, for the promotion of the crime prevention objective. It is important to recognise that certain criminal activity or associated problems may be taking place or have taken place despite the best efforts of the licensee and the staff working at the premises and despite full compliance with the conditions attached to the licence. In such circumstances, the licensing authority is still empowered to take any necessary steps to remedy the problems. The licensing authority's duty is to take steps with a view to the promotion of the licensing objectives in the interests of the wider community and not those of the individual holder of the premises licence.
- 11.25 As explained above, it is not the role of a licensing authority to determine the guilt or innocence of individuals charged with licensing or other offences committed on licensed premises. There is therefore no reason why representations giving rise to a review of a premises licence need be delayed pending the outcome of any criminal proceedings. As stated above, at the conclusion of a review, it will be for the licensing authority to determine on the basis of the application for the review and any relevant representations made, what action needs to be taken for the promotion of the licensing objectives in respect of the licence in question, regardless of any subsequent judgment in the courts about the behaviour of individuals.

- 11.26 There is certain criminal activity that may arise in connection with licensed premises, which the Secretary of State considers should be treated particularly seriously. These are the use of the licensed premises:
 - for the sale and distribution of Class A drugs and the laundering of the proceeds of drugs crime;
 - · for the sale and distribution of illegal firearms;
 - for the evasion of copyright in respect of pirated or unlicensed films and music, which does considerable damage to the industries affected;
 - for the purchase and consumption of alcohol by minors which impacts on the health, educational attainment, employment prospects and propensity for crime of young people;
 - for prostitution or the sale of unlawful pornography;
 - by organised groups of paedophiles to groom children;
 - as the base for the organisation of criminal activity, particularly by gangs;
 - for the organisation of racist activity or the promotion of racist attacks;
 - · for unlawful gaming and gambling, and
 - for the sale of smuggled tobacco and alcohol.
- 11.27 It is envisaged that licensing authorities, the police and other law enforcement agencies, which are responsible authorities, will use the review procedures effectively to deter such activities and crime. Where reviews arise and the licensing authority determines that the crime prevention objective is being undermined through the premises being used to further crimes, it is expected that revocation of the licence — even in the first instance — should be seriously considered. We would also encourage liaison with the local Crime and Disorder Reduction Partnership.

11.28 It should be noted that it is unlawful to discriminate or to refuse service on grounds of race or by displaying racially discriminatory signs on the premises. Representations made about such activity from responsible authorities or interested parties would be relevant to the promotion of the crime prevention objective and justifiably give rise to a review.

REVIEW OF A PREMISES LICENCE FOLLOWING CLOSURE ORDER

- 11.29 Licensing authorities are subject to certain timescales, set out in the legislation, for the review of a premises licence following a closure order. The relevant time periods run concurrently and are as follows:
 - when the licensing authority receives notice that a magistrates' court has made a closure order it has 28 days to determine the licence review. The determination must be made before the expiry of the 28th day after the day on which the notice is received;
 - the hearing must be held_within 10 working days, the first of which is the day after the day the notice from the magistrates' court is received;
 - notice of the hearing must be given no later than 5 working days before the first hearing day. There must be five clear working days between the giving of the notice and the start of the hearing.
