A new deal for social housing - Consultation Questions

Chapter one - Ensuring homes are safe and decent

Dame Judith Hackitt's independent review of building regulation and fire safety states that residents have an important role to play in identifying and reporting issues that may impact on the safety of the building and in meeting their obligations, including co-operating with crucial safety-related works, to ensure their own safety and that of their neighbours.

10. How can residents best be supported in this important role of working with landlords to ensure homes are safe?
There have been recent changes to drive up safety that apply to the private rented sector but not the social sector. For example, in 2015, we introduced a requirement to instal smoke alarms on every storey in a private rented sector home, and carbon monoxide alarms in every room containing solid fuel burning appliances. Government has recently announced that there will be a mandatory requirement on landlords in the private rented sector to ensure electrical installations in their property are inspected every five years.
11. Should new safety measures in the private rented sector also apply to socia housing? Yes No Not sure Please explain your answer further below, if you wish to.

The Decent Homes Standard requires social homes to be free of hazards that pose a risk to residents, to be in a reasonable state of repair, to have reasonably modern facilities and services such as kitchens and bathrooms and efficient heating and effective insulation.

12. Are there any changes to what constitutes a decent home that we	e should

Chapter two - Effective resolution of complaints

We want to understand whether more residents need to be able to access independent advice and potentially advocacy to support them in making a complaint.

Alternative dispute resolution and mediation services can be critical in allowing issues to be resolved swiftly and locally, while sustaining positive relationships between the parties involved. We are considering whether and how we might strengthen the mediation available for residents and landlords after initial attempts at resolution have failed.

	re there ways of strengthening the mediation opportunities available for ords and residents to resolve disputes locally?
	Yes
	No
	Not sure
If you	answered yes, you can provide suggestions below.
persor but if t themse the Ho	e a complaint is not resolved, a resident should refer their complaint to a "designated n", such as a local MP, councillor or tenant panel, (known as the democratic filter), they do not want to do this or the designated person does not resolve or refer it on elves, a resident must wait for eight weeks before the complaint can be referred to busing Ombudsman. There is a perception that the process of seeking redress tooking, and that the "democratic filter" contributed to delays.
	hould we reduce the eight week waiting time to four weeks? Or should we rethe requirement for the 'democratic filter' stage altogether? Support the option to reduce the waiting time to four weeks Support the option to remove the 'democratic filter' stage altogether Support no change Not sure explore	ming the filter stage would require primary legislation. We therefore also want to e what more could be done in the meantime to help ensure that "designated ns" better understand their role and help to deliver swift, local resolutions for nts.
	hat can we do to ensure that "designated persons" are better able to promote resolutions?

our housing redress consultation. We also want to consider if there is a case for an awareness campaign to support social residents in particular to understand their rights to seek redress and to know how to make complaints and escalate them where necessary.
17. How can we ensure that residents understand how best to escalate a complaint and seek redress?
We want to understand whether more residents need to be able to access independent advice and potentially advocacy to support them in making a complaint.
18. How can we ensure that residents can access the right advice and support when making a complaint?
There are no statutory guidelines setting out time frames within which providers should
There are no statutory guidelines setting out time frames within which providers should handle complaints. Dissatisfaction with the length of time it takes to resolve issues was mentioned at our engagement events. We therefore want to consider how to speed up landlord complaints processes.
19. How can we best ensure that landlords' processes for dealing with complaints are fast and effective?
20. How can we best ensure safety concerns are handled swiftly and effectively within the existing redress framework?

We are looking at awareness of housing dispute resolution services more widely as part of

Chapter three - Empowering residents and strengthening the Regulator

We consider that key performance indicators should be focused on issues of key importance to residents, covering those identified through our engagement, such as:

- Keeping properties in good repair;
- Maintaining the safety of buildings;
- Effective handling of complaints;
- Respectful and helpful engagement with residents; and,
 Responsible neighbourhood management, including tackling anti-social behaviour.

responsible heighbourhood management, including tacking and social behaviour.
21. Do the proposed key performance indicators cover the right areas? Yes No Not sure
22. Are there any other areas that should be covered?
Yes No Not sure Please explain your answer further below, if you wish to.
23. Should landlords report performance against these key performance indicators every year?
Yes No
Not sure
24. Should landlords report performance against these key performance indicators to the Regulator? Yes
No No
Not sure
25. What more can be done to encourage landlords to be more transparent with their residents?

The Regulator already expects landlords to publish information about complaints each year, but approaches vary. We are considering setting out a consistent approach on how landlords should report their complaint handling outcomes, by asking them to report how many complaints were resolved, how many were resolved after repeated complaints and how many were referred to the Ombudsman.

landlo	o you think that there should be a better way of reporting the outcome ords' complaint handling? How can this be made as clear and accessible for residents?

Please	e explain your answer further below, if you wish to.
	hat would be the best approach to publishing key performance indicators allow residents to make the most effective comparison of performance?	s that

We want to consider the role of financial incentives and penalties to promote the best practice and deter the worst performance. For example, whether key performance indictors should help inform or influence the extent to which landlords receive funding and link the Affordable Homes Programme funding to the Regulator's governance rating as well as the viability rating.

29. Should we introduce a new criterion to the Affordable Homes Programme that reflects residents' experience of their landlord? Yes
No No
Not sure
Please explain your answer further below, if you wish to.
30. What other ways could we incentivise best practice and deter the worst, including for those providers that do not use Government funding to build?
We want to understand more about whether the regulatory framework is setting the right expectations on how landlords should engage with residents, and how effective current resident scrutiny measures are. Landlords are required to consult residents at least once every three years on the best way of involving them in the governance and scrutiny of the housing management service, and demonstrate how they respond to tenants' needs in the way they provide services and how they communicate.
31. Are current resident engagement and scrutiny measures effective?
Yes
No
Not sure
32 What more can be done to make residents aware of existing ways to engage with landlords and influence how services are delivered?

A number of national tenant and resident organisations in the sector have been exploring the option of an independent platform for tenants, based on widespread engagement with tenants, to enable them to have their voices heard more effectively at a national level.

33. Is there a need for a stronger representation for residents at a national leve	∄I ?
Yes
No
Not sure
If you answered yes, how should this best be achieved?
We want to offer residents greater opportunity to exercise more choice and influence the day to day housing services. We are exploring options to demonstrate how combeddership can be embedded in the governance and culture of mainstream landlords	nmunity
34. Would there be interest in a programme to promote the transfer of authority housing, particularly to community-based housing associations?	f local

36. Are Tenant Management Organisations delivering positive outcomeresidents and landlords? Yes No Don't know Please explain your answer further below if you wish to.	es for

37. Are current processes for setting up and disbanding Tenant Management Organisations suitable? Do they achieve the right balance between residents control and local accountability?
 Control and local accountability? Yes – the current processes are suitable and achieve the right balance.
Yes – the current processes are suitable but do not achieve the right balance
No – the current processes are not suitable and do not achieve the right balance
Not sure
Please explain your answer further below, if you wish to.
There have been schemes, such as Local Management Agreements and Community Cashback (called Give it a Go grants) which have been designed to support social residents to take responsibility for a service within their local community.
38. Are there any other innovative ways of giving social housing residents greater choice and control over the services they receive from landlords?
39. Do you think there are benefits to models that support residents to take on some of their own services?
Yes No Not sure
If yes, what is needed to make these work?
40. How can landlords ensure residents have more choice over contractor services while retaining oversight of quality and value for money?

which will benefit all leaseholders, both in the private and social sectors.
41. What more could we do to help leaseholders of a social housing landlord?
 Parliament has set the Regulator of Social Housing a consumer objective, which is: to support the provision of social housing that is well-managed and appropriate quality; to ensure that actual or potential tenants of social housing have appropriate degree of choice and protection; to ensure that tenants of social housing have the opportunity to be involved in its management and to hold their landlords to account; and, to encourage registered providers of social housing to contribute to the environmental, social and economic well-being of the areas in which thousing is situated.
42. Does the Regulator have the right objective on consumer regulation? Yes No Not sure Please explain your answer further below, if you wish to.

The Regulator has published four outcome-based consumer standards to deliver the consumer regulation objective. These are:

- The Tenant Involvement and Empowerment Standard (July 2017) which includes a requirement for landlords to provide choices and effective communication of information for residents on the delivery of all standards, and to have a clear, simple and accessible complaints procedure.
- 2. The Home Standard (April 2012) which requires homes to be safe, decent and kept in a good state of repair.
- 3. The Tenancy Standard (April 2012) which requires registered providers to let their home in a fair, transparent and efficient way, and enable tenants to gain access to opportunities to exchange their tenancy.

4. The Neighbourhood and Community Standard (April 2012) which requires registered providers to keep the neighbourhood and communal areas associated with the homes that they own clean and safe; help promote social, environmental

To support a more proactive approach to enforcing the consumer standards we are considering arming residents with information through the introduction of a number of key performance indicators and for landlord performance to be published. Our current thinking is that the Regulator should monitor the key performance indicators to identify where there may be issues of concern with performance. The Regulator would then be able to make a risk-based assessment of how and where to intervene, including through more regular or phased interventions.

Where a breach of the consumer standards meets the "serious detriment" test, the Regulator will publish a regulatory notice and consider the most appropriate course of action.

The Regulator is able to use a number of regulatory and enforcement powers where necessary to ensure compliance with the standards. The Regulator has different tools available depending on the landlord, and has published guidance setting out how it will use its powers. The key powers include:

Powers applicable to all landlords:

- Survey to assess the condition of stock
- Inspection to establish compliance with the regulatory requirements
- Hold an Inquiry where it suspects landlord mismanagement
- Issue an Enforcement Notice
- Requirement to tender some or all of its management functions
- Requirement to transfer management of housing to a specified provider

Powers applicable only to private registered providers:

- Issue Fines
- Order payment of compensation to a resident
- Appointment of manager to improve performance of the landlord
- Transfer land to another provider to improve management of land (following an Inquiry)
- Suspension and removal of officers in cases of mismanagement (during or after Inquiry)
- Appoint a new officer to address service failure and improve management of company

Power applicable only to local authority landlords:

Appoint an adviser to improve performance

49. Ar	e the existing enforcement measures described above adequate?
	Yes
	No
	Not sure
If you	answered no, what other enforcement powers should be considered?

As part of examining the scope of the Regulator's role we want to consider the case for extending its remit to other organisations that manage social housing. The Regulator will hold the local authority landlord to account for the way services are delivered so it is vital that the local authority has good oversight arrangements in place to ensure that management organisations provide a good service.

50. Is the current framework for local authorities to hold management organisa such as Tenant Management Organisations and Arms Length Manage Organisations to account sufficiently robust?
Yes
No
Not sure	41
If you answered no, what more is needed to provide effective oversight of organisations?	inese
We want to be clear and transparent about how the Regulator is accountable to Parlia for meeting its statutory objectives. Upcoming legislative changes will shortly establish a standalone Non-Departmental Public Body. As such it will be accountable to Parlia in the same way as other Non-Departmental Bodies.	ı it as
51. What further steps, if any, should Government take to make the Regulator accountable to Parliament?	more

Chapter Four - Tackling stigma and celebrating thriving communities

We want to celebrate residents' role in shaping fantastic places by recognising the best neighbourhoods.
52. How could we support or deliver a best neighbourhood competition?
53. In addition to sharing positive stories of social housing residents and their neighbourhoods, what more could be done to tackle stigma?
We want to embed a customer service culture and attract, retain and develop the right people with the right behaviours for the challenging and rewarding range of roles offered by the sector.
54. What is needed to further encourage the professionalisation of housing management to ensure all staff delivers a good quality of service?
We are minded to introduce a key performance indicator that will capture how well landlords undertake their neighbourhood management responsibilities.
55. What key performance indicator should be used to measure whether landlords are providing good neighbourhood management?

We want to ensure that the revised National Planning Policy Framework is applied to social housing in the right way. In particular we will:

- Strengthen planning guidance to take into account the principles of Secured by Design: to ensure that external spaces, parks, streets and courts are well-lit and well maintained so they are safe from crime and the fear of crime.

- Strengthen guidance to encourage healthy and active communities: building on the NPPF's healthy and safe communities chapter.
- Strengthen guidance to encourage new affordable homes to be designed to the same high-quality as other tenures and well-integrated within developments.
- Encourage design that reflects changing needs: for example, inclusive design for an ageing population and family housing at higher densities for effective use of land.

60. What other ways can planning guidance support good design in the sector?	social
Neighbourhood planning gives communities power to agree and implement a vision for their neighbourhood. However, we are aware that too often local peopabout schemes after a planning application has been submitted.
